BREATH OF WINTER
CHILLS THE REGION.

Mercury Dropped 50 Degrees Over Sunday and Snow Falls.

COLDEST DAY OF YEAR HERE

This Morning the Temperature Was Down to 10 Degrees in the Early Hours—Wind Blew a Gale Through-out the Night.

Old Boreas held the coke region in his grasp yesterday and today. The most sudden change in temperature that has been known for years occurred yesterday when, after starting out in a mild and balmy manner, the weather switched and by night a fierce, wintry storm was in full tilt. Early yesterday morning there was every promise of a splendid day. The promise failed to make good for by 10 o'clock it was raining, and an hour later it was a driving rain and by noon there were traces of snow. During the afternoon the rain ceased altogether but the wind swept before it a heavy snow storm, and all the time the mercury was falling lower and lower. By night the wind continued but it had stopped snowing. The pavements were covered with ice and snow and walking was difficult and dangerous. Saturday night the West Penn thermometer registered 64 degrees. This morning at 8 o'clock it stood at 15, but around daybreak it was down to an even 10 points above zero.

The chill was intensified by the mountain storm that raged throughout the night. The wind howled about the eaves and swept the snow in clouds that which had not frozen fast to the surface. This morning it was cold and clear, with a wind that cut one through the chance the wind subsided and the cold was modified to some extent. Those who had to cross the Youghiogheny bridge about 6 o'clock. The full sweep of the wind as it whirled down the river, between the hills. Several falls occurred on the bridge, where the footing was insecure.

The cold came too quickly for ice to form in the river although traces of it were noticeable along the banks of the mountain streams. The hard rain of yesterday kept the river in the vicinity of the three foot stage. If the cold snap continues it will result in the river falling more rapidly than for weeks past.

The sudden change of weather caused no little suffering. Saturday seemed like Indian Summer, for there was warmth in the air more like early spring than late fall. Then, with yesterday, came the icy breath of winter that gives no indication of letting up for the present, at least.

Huckster Stricken
on Pittsburg Street

Giovanni Maricchi, aged 55 years, an Italian huckster, residing in Connellville township, was stricken with apoplexy Saturday night about 8:30 o'clock on North Pittsburg street. Maricchi was accompanied by his small daughter and they were driving home when he was stricken. The child ran into Dr. M. B. Shupe's office on North Pittsburg street and summoned aid.

The stricken man was taken to his home on the Narrows where he died yesterday morning about 6 o'clock. He is survived by his widow and six children. Funeral services are being held this afternoon at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Italian church, interment in the Lutheran cemetery.

PATTERSON-BROWNFIELD CASE
DISPOSED OF BY THE COURT.

Judge R. E. Umbel Made an Order This Morning Providing for Payment of Money to Foreigners and the Attorneys.

The Brownfield-Patterson case which grew out of a damage suit settled by Attorneys J. B. Brownfield and George Patterson between the Fayette County Gas Company and a number of foreigners who were hurt in a gas explosion in the southern part of the county over a year ago, was disposed of in court at Uniontown this morning by Judge R. E. Umbel. Judge Umbel ordered both the two attorneys and Attorney E. D. Fulton who brought the matter into court. The court made an order providing for the payment of the money which is now in the hands of the court, to Prothonotary William McClelland for distribution.

Judge Umbel's opinion covers 32 typewritten pages and reveals the 700 pages of testimony taken in the case. The court condemns the two attorneys for taking one-third of the total amount secured from the gas company. In the schedule of payment made by the court the attorneys' share of the money paid over by the gas company is the largest portion of it distributed.

The costs in the case amount to $622 and are paid out of the money held. To Attorneys Brownfield and Patterson $3,459 is ordered to be paid. Frank Martin and wife get $712; George Bergair is given $984; Frank Shuster $560 and Vincent Klascik $1,824. The money that will be turned over to Prothonotary McClelland for distribution amounts to $6,360.

Judge Umbel in his opinion states that the court disposed of this case strictly in line with the testimony and not according to rumors and reports that have come to the court's attention. The court also stated that trouble may be in store for some persons whose relations as attorneys and interpreters are not what they should be.

Lawsuit in the Mountains Over
The Shooting of Neighbor's Horse.
For shooting a horse belonging to Joseph Miller of Indian Head, H. S. Showman, a Springfield township merchant, was given a hearing Saturday afternoon. Squire Casper Cramer took his docket under his arm and emerged from his habitat in the mountains to hold the hearing at the Miller home. Attorney E. E. Younkkin appeared for the prosecutor.

It was shown that Showman, one day last month, fired at Miller's horse and killed it with shot. The horse survived, but Alex Showman, brother of the defendant and employee of Miller, picked out 22 shot one morning and five the next.

Following Justice Cramer's decision that Showman be bound over for showman, was given a hearing on charges of assault and battery and carrying concealed weapons. It was alleged he hit Alex Showman over the head with an axe handle. He too, was held.

The hearing attracted a large crowd of spectators, most of whom stood for an hour in the dripping rain and watched the proceedings through two windows. Efforts to settle the case without going to court failed.

Was Taken Up This Morning.

TWO SUITS PLACED ON TRIAL

Judge Umbel Halted Down—Orders Refusing New Trials—One Sentence Is Passed and Prisoner Agrees to Leave County.

Special to The Courier.
UNIONTOWN, Nov. 13.—The September adjourned term of civil court opened this morning and two cases were taken up. In the small room before Judge Umbel the suit of James A. Miller, aged 72, against George P. Miller, his brother, and Ruth B. Miller, was started. Miller is suing to recover $274 he alleges to have loaned his brother, George, and wife.

The defendants claim that the $274 is offset by bills for care and keep James A. Miller says he went to his brother's home and was to be given a home for $250 a week and certain chores.

In the large room, before Judge Van Swearingen, the suit of L. J. Houze against the Masonville Glass Company was started. Houze claims $2,713.58 on a note. He says he was employed to build the glass plant for the company and was given the note when a disagreement occurred in 1907. There was an omission on the corner of the note which caused the banks to refuse payment, hence the suit.

Judge Umbel refused new trials to George Dush, John Cott and Albert Cott, convicted of selling liquor without a license, and Edward Wensky and John Smith, convicted of aggravated assault and battery and making threats.

Ross Evans appeared before the court and pleaded guilty to a serious offense against Clara Noel. He was permitted to go under a suspended sentence on condition that he leaves the county. Evans wanted to marry the girl, but her parents objected. They agreed not to push the case if he left the neighborhood. The parties are from Bellefonte where Evans was employed as a glassworker.

TEMPERANCE DAY
OBSERVED SUNDAY

At the Methodist Protestant Church Morning and Evening.

PROGRAM THAT WAS RENDERED

Pleased a Large Audience at the Evening Service While the Pastor, Rev. R. E. Cairns, Preached on Battle of Bettle in the Morning.

"Temperance Day" was observed yesterday at the Methodist Protestant church and despite the inclement weather the services were largely attended. In the morning Rev. R. E. Cairns, the pastor, preached on "The Battle of the Bettle in the Keystone State." Last evening the services were in charge of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society. At the opening of the services the new officers of the Senior Christian Endeavor Society for the year were installed, after which the evening's program was carried out. The program consisted of songs, recitations and drills. A drill, "Uncle Sam's Vision," was ably carried out by the children.

Paul Shaw was "Uncle Sam," Marian Shaw was a fairy, and Howard Frankenherry was the little prohibitionist. While sleeping, Uncle Sam was supposed to see a vision and each fairy told what he saw. A Bible drill by about 20 older girls was a delightful feature of the program.

Yesterday morning Roll Call services were held at the Christiana church and considering the rough weather the attendance was remarkably large. Each member of the congregation present wrote his or her name and handed it in to the pastor. The Sunday school attendance was unusually large, about 217 persons being present.

Rev. E. A. E. Palmquist of the First Baptist church in accordance with the plan to observe the week of prayer for the young men directed by the International Y. M. C. Shoplifter is Caught in Act

E. C. Thomas, the West Main street stationer, had an unpleasant experience with a shoplifter last week and not only located the offender, but made him settle, as well. Earlier in the week a book was stolen from the store. Thomas recalled who had been looking over the books during the evening and recalled a well dressed stranger, who had later gone out without making a purchase.

This might have been forgotten but for the fact that Saturday evening the man came in again. He browsed over the magazines but just as he started out Thomas saw him slip a magazine under his coat.

Thomas followed the man and held him up on Main street. He admitted taking both the magazine and novel, and settled for them, rather than be turned over to the police.

SHOSTLY BUTTERFLIES.

A Species in British Guiana Whose Wings Are Transparent. In "Our Search for a Wilderness" Mr. William Beebe of the New York Zoological park describes his first sight of the transparent butterfly—Eotropa piersi—of British Guiana, an insect through whose outstretched wings any substance on which it rests can be clearly seen.

As we crossed a swirling creek on the trunk of a mighty fallen tree something fluttered about. We could not see what it was. Closer we came, and still the object remained indistinct. We seemed to see a butterfly, and yet that appeared impossible. At last we marked it down on a fern frond and crept up until our eyes were within two feet of it. Nothing was visible but the graceful lacework of the frond until a streaking beam of sunlight struck it, and there, close before us, was the ghost of a butterfly.

It spread fully three inches, but was wholly transparent, save for three tiny spots of azure near the margin of each hind wing.

As we looked it drifted to a double banded flower of rose, and when it alighted the scarlet of the flower and the green of the leaf were as distinct as if seen through thin mica, and the faint gray haze of the insect's wings was marked only by the indistinct venation.

The appearance of this ghostly butterfly amid the silence and an inspiring stillness of the reeking jungle was most impressive.

BIG BELLS.

Canton Has One Eighteen Feet High and Forty-five Feet in Circumference. Some of the old world bells are heavy indeed. "Great Paul" of St. Paul's cathedral in London weighs nearly seven thousand tons and nearly thirty feet around. The first bell of Westminster was cast more than fifty years ago and weighed about fourteen tons and was about twenty eight feet around. But "Big Ben" had a crack and was made over, losing some weight, and the clapper was made anew. It is now 1600 pounds instead of about a ton. "Peter of York" cost $10,000, weight twelve and one half tons, twenty two feet in diameter or thereabouts.

The largest hanging bell in the world is said to be that in the great Buddhist monastery near Canton. It is eighteen feet in height and forty-five feet in circumference, being cast of solid bronze. This is one of eight monster bells that were cast by command of the Emperor Yung Lo about A. D. 1400. It is said to have cost the lives of eight hundred men in the process of casting. The whole bell on both sides is covered with an inscription in embossed Chinese characters about half an inch in length, covering even the top piece from which it swings, the total number being 84,000. These characters tell a simple story, one of the Chinese classics.

Tree in Oranges.

The Mundus a weekly published in Rome in the language states that one of the methods adopted by the Japanese to produce their curious inverted trees is to plant a sapling of an orange in a hole through a small hole and the skin filled with a mixture of wool charcoal and rich earth with one end toward the opening in the skin. The orange is put in a glass and watered by the hole, and every now and then a little wood ash is added. The plant grows through the opening and the roots pierce the skin. As soon as they do so they are cut off. After two or three years of this treatment the plant will be only a few inches high but will have the aspect of an old forest tree.

An Old Friend.

A private soldier once rendered some slight service to the first Napoleon. "Thank you, captain," said the emperor cheerfully.

"In what regiment were you?" was the instant response of the quick witted private.

"In my regiment," replied the emperor pleased with the man's ready retort. This incident with appropriate variations also happened to Genghis Khan from the terrible Altai Gorge, and to Napoleon from the terrible Altai Gorge, and to Napoleon from the terrible Altai Gorge.

CHANGING THE SEASONS.

In China it is Summer When the Emperor Says It is.

The emperor of China has some strange duties. One of these is the ordering of the seasons. It is summer in America when the sun warms the earth and not until then, but in China it is summer when the emperor says it is summer. As soon as the emperor declares that summer has come everybody in China puts off winter clothing and arranges himself in summer garb no matter what his feelings on the subject may be. All domestic arrangements are made to suit the season as proclaimed by the emperor, although this may not suit the individual at all. The nearest approach to the Chinese system of ordering the seasons is the practice observed in France in all public buildings. There it is winter on and after Oct. 1. Fires are then lighted in all government offices, and the employees exchange their white summer waists for the thicker and darker ones of winter. At that date the public libraries are closed at 4 and in the streets the sellers of toasted chestnuts make their appearance. In official France it is winter no matter what the weather may say and no matter what unofficial France may think.—New York Press

The Royal Fish.

Sturgeon are abundant in Russia where the fisheries are of great value. The flesh is eaten when fresh but is chiefly smoked or salted. More than 10,000 fish are sometimes caught at a single fishing station. The eggs are removed in quantity from the ovaries and separately prepared as caviar. The annual value of the Russian sturgeon fisheries, including the production of fishglass, is estimated at $5,000,000.

To Keep Oilcloth Like New

Oilcloth should not be swept with a straw broom or scrubbed with a stiff brush. Instead, sweep with a soft hair brush and wipe off with lukewarm water in which has been dissolved a teaspoonful of Gold Dust washing powder and rinse with clear, warm water. Where oilcloth is losing its shiny surface, wash as above, then dissolve a little ordinary glue in a pint of hot water. At night go over the whole carefully with a flannel dipped in glue water. Choose a dry day and by morning the glue will be hard. It will give a fine gloss and make the oilcloth wear much longer.

FURNITURE AND CARPETS

Barnum said the people liked to be humbugged. But, like a good many famous epigrams, it isn't true, except perhaps in the circus business. Most assuredly it is not true when applied to the Furniture and Carpet business, for you DON'T like to be humbugged when you buy the things that make your home a real home.

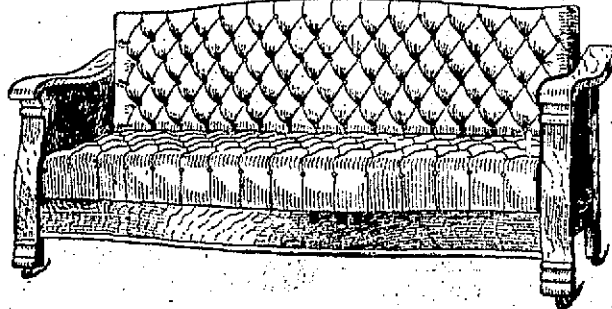

Circus methods are often used to induce you to buy cheap and inferior furniture, but thank fortune we've never indulged in that sort of publicity. We've always urged you to use your BRAINS when buying things for your home. The result has been that the thinking people have clung to the Aaron store for years and years.

We appeal only to your reason. We call your attention to the fact that we are by far the greatest buyers in the furniture business in Western Pennsylvania; that we control the product of all the leading manufacturers; that these manufacturers would not select us as their agents if they did not know our supremacy.

We've told you your credit is as good as gold here; that all our prices are marked in plain figures; that quality for quality, our prices are always the lowest. No one who wants trash comes here for it. No one who wants Quality goes anywhere else. That's a sweeping statement, but it's very very true, isn't it?

MONDAY EVENING, NOV. 13, 1911.

THE SORRY PLIGHT
OF SHERIFF SHIELDS.

An officer of the law should never forget that it is his duty to administer
the law, not to make it.

There was at Washington once upon a time a rising politician who held down the position of detective.
He was so impressed with his importance that he wrote home to a friend that "he was a bigger man than old Grant." But he wasn't. He lost his job.

Sheriff Shields of Westmoreland county imagined that he was a bigger man than the law, because in his estimation he was the personification of justice, unhampered and unrestrained by any mandate of the legislature. But he wasn't. He has lost his job.

The justice of Sheriff Shields was of questionable character and his official acts have been declared to be even worse. He has been convicted of perjury, embezzlement, manifestation of violence and permitting private citizens to use his office as a base of operations. On the former charge
he has been sentenced to several years in the penitentiary, on the latter charge, he has been deprived of his office, and the coroner of the county has taken charge as is provided by law.

Sheriff Shields lost the law when he made moral use of his duty in protecting the property of the coal operators during the recent strike and preventing mob violence on the part of the strikers. He subsequently defied the law again when he openly took sides with the miners, and thereby encouraged rather than repressed violence. It seems, however, that the sheriff was playing politics, and he played the game well. In spite of the fact that he was under conviction for the crimes and misdemeanors mentioned, he got the minor vote and was nominated and elected a County Commissioner.

But the question now arises whether
if the higher courts where an appeal has been taken confirm the judgment and sentences of the court below,
and if Shields is incarcerated in prison for several years, he is not ipso facto deposed from the office of commissioner, or if his plight in such case is not a sufficient warrant of impeachment.

It is not the policy of our plan
of government to keep in office persons incapacitated, especially under such conditions.

THE CONSERVATION
OF RESOURCES.

The coal and steel business of 1910 is not considered to have been as satisfactory as it might have been, yet it appears that it was greater in volume than that of any previous year.

This has been due in a large measure to the enterprise of the United States Steel Corporation in developing the foreign trade and in tapping the open door policy with its competitors
"Live and let live," has been its motto.
It has not been an agent of destruction or an instrument of evil. It has aimed at the conservation of business, not at its monopolization.

It had much to do with preventing an industrial catastrophe in 1907 that would have brought untold suffering upon the country and which would probably still be hanging like a cloud of desolation over us.

Yet it has been deemed necessary to indict the Steel Corporation under the Sherman act as an unlawful combination, and a menace to the public interest.

We cannot think that justice will permit the serious disturbance of such a corporation simply because it has grown great in a good cause.

THE CHEAPEST CURRENCY
OF SELF-SEEKERS.

The New York Sun has always been in uncompromising enemy of sham and hypocrisy in politics. It is still sustained by the fearless and aggressive policy of Charles Anderson Dana, its founder and for many years its able editor. Speaking of Reform as its intrinsic aim in the modern political game,
he says:

Reform in this country has become an empty profession of politicians whose whole public record is a living contradiction of the principles they claim. A moral issue today is the cheapest currency of self-seekers.
Mean actions concealed by lofty professions, these are the medium of the professional reformers of the hour.

When the editor of The Sun said
the moral issue of today is the cheapest currency of self-seekers, he of course had no reference to Fayette county's $5,000 Pure Politics Fund,
but in the language of a one-time Uniontown character, "He was cuttin'
close to the truth."

The sentence of Wade, the negro rancher, was not indeterminate, not the contrary it was very determinate, not to say highly cumulative.

The damage suit against the School Board, collectively and individually, looks bigger than it really is.

President Taft is a rapid hiker as well as a ready speaker.

The Presidency of Mexico is getting to be a boom job.

South Connellville reports a race war. It went up in smoke, some of the damage went to ashes and some of the race is running yet. It seems that the ancient war between the Romans and the Huns has not yet, after twenty centuries, been fought to a finish.

The negro ravisher of white women and children is a foul blot upon negro emancipation and colored progress, and as such should be resented and pursued and punished with every honest and self-respecting colored citizen in the county.

Thanksgiving comes early this year,
but good things cannot come too soon
or too often.

The official counts are all in and likewise the ambitions of those who hoped to make radical changes in the original announcements.

The new School Board will be competent and contentious and it promises to be helpful and harmonious. That's worth money to the community.

The Chinese revolution runs red.
The Pittsburgh district consumes nearly one-third of its coal production, thereby proving its faith in its works.

Andrew Carnegie has formed another corporation known as The Carnegie Corporation with a paid-up capital stock of $25,000,000. As the object of this corporation is merely to continue his personal gifts in aid of public education, it is to be hoped that it will not be cited to appear before the courts to answer a charge of violating the Sherman Anti-Trust law.

The Pittsburgh district remains the undisputed center of the iron trade in the large majority. It produces 11% of the world's production; 40% of the total of Germany; 70% of the total of Great Britain; as much as the combined product of France, Russia and Canada.

President Taft has just speaking to the people and will get down to the business of writing his address to the Congress. It is to be hoped that the country will be benefited by the full of his address.

Senator Penrose is said to be one of the persons upon which the President relied for moral and political support.
After all, the Senator, like the prophet of old, has refused to be without honor outside of his own country.

New York's City Attorney has declared that women have no such right to smoke in public as men have. This may be good law, but it is not good manners.

Senator Penrose will heartily support Mayor Blankenberg. If the former reformer does which out
they will lose their jobs.

It looks as if the proposed Constitutional Amendments affecting Pittsburgh and Philadelphia have been defeated. If the people of these cities reject such changes in their government as were contained in these proposed amendments they should have done so without opposition. They should be permitted to govern themselves. However, it must be confessed that these amendments were never submitted to a vote of the citizens of these cities. Possibly a referendum would have properly applied in these cases.

Kanana has discovered whiskey in solid form and the question arises whether it can be chewed or food or drink. If the former, prohibition cannot prevent its being introduced in Dr.
Communities. Solid booze will have its advantages. The tippler and the toper can carry their bottles in their vest pockets, and take a sly nip or nibble behind closed palms in the most public places.

The Pennsylvania railroad is reported to be storing anthracite and is rumored that the company is putting itself on the safe side in case of a strike of the anthracite miners.
It is always well enough to be prepared against all contingencies.

The Uniontown Herald announces that the U. S. F. C. Coke Company is trading its assets at Gates, which have been late since April. It is proper for the public to be kept informed of such business. The Herald's newspapers to boom the coke trade, and to give its prosperity all possible publicity, but unfortunately for this statement there are no coke ovens at Gates. It is a mining proposition pure and simple.
The plants is starting up, it is true, but it is shipping coal.

Basketball will get a chilly reception, but perhaps the players will be more active.

The Cumberland region is shipping luminous coal to Cuba, a pretty far from home. It is now fitting an order of 40,000 tons for Egypt.

Two industries that have shown an abnormal growth during the past few years, as every newspaper of importance will admit, are the promiss-tory of making education and the press matter designed under veil of live news to stir in some free and valuable advertising.

Senator Penrose sees a big job of housecleaning before him, if we may believe political gossip.

An Important Message.
Greenburg, Tenn.,
A message, large with importance,
comes to the people of Westmoreland county in the return of the recent election. The purpose of the message cannot be misunderstood. It points with unerring aim at political incompetence and moral incapacity. It directs itself forcibly to both old political parties in the county and demands improved conditions or threatens worse.

The candidate for sheriff of Westmoreland county on the Socialist ticket polled 4,005 votes. That candidate is not a Socialist. He represents no policy or principle other than an ignorant gratitude. He has never been known to lead anything but a mob. Yet Westmoreland county, in protest, gave him one third of the majority party vote.

A good, clean vigorous minority party is badly needed in Westmoreland county, but neither the majority nor the minority organization should have Socialist taint.

Abe Martin

sister (today saying) that ever-buddy wasn't happy. Martin, who clerks

The First Hog Combine.

By Isaac of Yukon.

The Roman republic, after an existence as a world power for four centuries, was destroyed by its political leaders who employed men's heads for monthly ornaments.

In the event that about six great political monsters had died when they were cutting their first set of teeth the republic might have existed a thousand years longer. It is strange that good rulers get killed before their usefulness is at an end and bad ones always get killed after they have done
a lot of injury that ages can not correct. That is the way it was in Rome in a department store.

These three human devils didn't care
a rap for the Roman republic as long as they had their money. At this time they ran a kind of a hunch 101 show.
After the three men had hogged around home several years, Caesar took an army into France and Crassus took a big wing south of the Black Sea and took a big wing south of the Black Sea and took a big wing south of the Black Sea.

Pompey and Julia fell out and fought.
Each wanted everything. At this time Caesar rode his "pony" across the tubular exclaiming: "The die is cast."
"I see signs of victory," said the other sweet potato eaters and other words.
He killed over the hills for a year and finally used Pompey's head as a ball.

On March 15, at P. O. Caesar went to the Forum and gave an illustration of a man dying with his boots on. His died on schedule time and his body was buried there. Antony tried to execute the will of Caesar, who intended that the crown
should go to his grand-nephew, Octavius.
A smooth faced boy, without any bumps on his character.

The second Hog Combine was formed by Antony, Lepidus and Octavius.
These three had 400 senators and 2,000 knights killed in order that no one would bother them. Finally they were kicked out for playing an honest hand. Brutus and Cassius got their bumps on the head. Antony was murdering with Cleopatra. Octavius swore that kind of work wouldn't do and started after Tony. She thought she could tame him, but her charm dynamo blacked.

At the battle of Actium, Antony and his Egyptian employment agent lost out. The end of the republic was at hand and the empire began which continued for five centuries.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS' ATHLETIC LEAGUE.

Nine Are Represented in New Association Formed at Scottdale.

BASKET BALL COMES FIRST

Mrs. Mary A. Loucks Entertains at an Autumn Luncheon—M. M. Trout Secures Deer From Ruffed Grouse—Randall Pugh's Quack Marriage.

Special to The Courier
SCOTSDALE, Nov. 11.—There is a great deal of interest among the athletic young fellows of town over the formation of the Sunday School Athletic League which is about to be brought to a successful organization, Friday evening, November 17, at which time the committee appointed to draft a constitution will make their report. The officers of the league are C. B. Francis, president of the Scotch High School, while Carlisle Hill is secretary and Wesley Steelsmith assistant secretary. The next meeting will be held on the date given above and at the First Baptist church at 8 o'clock sharp, when it is desired that every Sunday school have representatives present to consider and vote upon the proposed constitution. In the League there are represented the Baptist, the Presbyterian, the Methodist Episcopal, the United Brethren, the United Presbyterian, the Reformed, the Christian and the United Evangelical Sunday schools of Scottdale and the United Brethren Sunday school of Everett.

The form of athletics to be taken up this fall and winter will be basketball, and it is proposed to form a league with seven teams, the players to range in age from 17 to 25 years. Baseball will be taken up in the summer and any other sports that may appeal to the league members. The organization promises to be a lively and interesting one.

Mrs. Mary A. Loucks Entertains.
Mrs. Mary A. Loucks gave a pretty autumn luncheon at her home on Chestnut street yesterday afternoon at one o'clock. The luncheon was served on a long table, the centerpiece of which was a jolly pumpkin lantern, with a bow of wide red ribbon adorning its crown. From the pumpkin lantern there were four broad bands made of cranberries and greenery forming the "X," which number was made up of the guests surrounding the table. At the ends of the table were candle holders made of big red apples, while the candles and other lights had red ribbons. A number of the pumpkin lanterns were stationed on the mantel, and in other parts of the room. The general color scheme was in red and white, and the place cards were dainty ones painted in water colors by Mrs. Olive Skemp, and portraying a Continental scene in autumn garb of red. The out of town guests were Mrs. Sara B. Cochran of Dawson, Mrs. W. S. Metzger of Uniontown and Mrs. Frank W. Wright of Conneltsville.

Grouched a Deer.
Interested people crowded M. M. Trout's butcher shop last evening while he was engaged in skinning a deer, which had been shot by Sherman Neighly of Ruffs Dale, while Mr. Neighly was hunting this week in the Main woods. A good deal of uneasiness has been felt during the week among Neighly's family and friends when they did not hear from him, thinking he had been either shot or turned up safe and sound with a couple of antlers. Neighly had been deep in the woods and far from the railroad. A rare specimen of the deer family that Mr. Neighly saw was a clear white doe.

Quick Matrimony.
Randall Pugh, formerly of Scottdale and later of Youngwood, and very well known here, showed the Missourians something fast in the way of matrimony by getting a divorce and marrying in 18 days, out in Scandia. The announcement of divorce and marriage were enclosed in one envelope. On October 11 it was stated Randall Pugh secured a divorce from Bertie Faust Pugh, formerly of Mt. Pleasant, in the Circuit Court of Pettis county, Scandia, Mo. Just a little more than a fortnight after the marriage of Miss Nellie Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Owens of Scandia, and Randall Pugh, was solemnized by Rev. J. D. Prigman of the Presbyterian church. Mr. Pugh has made Scandia his home for the last couple of years, being employed by Collins Bros., farmers.

In Sharpville.
Mrs. Harry Porterfield and daughters, Mrs. Ebbert Graft, are visiting friends and relatives in Sharpville for a couple of weeks.

On Burgess' Porch.
Posey King was picked off Burgess R. P. Ellis' porch where Posey had lain down to sleep. He was gubbed in by Policeman Harry Falk and put in cold storage in the borough conservatory, until taken out for examination by Burgess Ellis last evening. Posey did not remember how he ever got on the porch or anything else about his career for several hours, and being one of those rare plants in Scottdale to get pickled with alcohol, the Burgess charged Posey $3 for keeping him away from the frost. Posey paid the charges and picking up his suitcase said he would seek some other climate.

DR. SLISLEY CALLED

By Congregation in Seattle, Wash., as Their Pastor.

The Rev. Dr. Frank M. Slisley, pastor of the North Presbyterian church, Grandale and Galveston avenues, North Side, Pittsburgh, received a unanimous call from the congregation of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Seattle, Wash. Several weeks ago Dr. Slisley was invited to fill the pulpit as a supply. He accepted the invitation and preached in Seattle two Sundays. The result is that he has been extended the call. While the popular North Side pastor has made no announcement of his acceptance, it is hardly probable that he will refuse, as the western territory affords a minister a great opportunity. It is possible he will announce to his congregation within the next week or 10 days his acceptance of the offer. The call is only one of several that have been extended Pittsburgh ministers. No less than eight local ministers have been called to pastorate in the west during the present year.

It is possible that the North Side congregation will make a united attempt to have Rev. Slisley remain. He has been pastor of the North church for five years, during which time the congregation has increased 200. Before accepting this pastorate, Rev. Slisley was located at Meadville, Pa. For several years Rev. Slisley has been chaplain of the Sixteenth Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, U. S. A. He is also a member of the Presbyterian Mission Committee and several other important church committees. The Seattle church has a membership of 700, including many of the most prominent residents of the city. The opportunity for a better work in that section is said to be the best in the country. Dr. Slisley is a native of Scottdale and in his earlier days was engaged in newspaper work there and in Uniontown.

JAPAN'S WOMEN DIVERS.

In the Water and Learn to Swim Almost From Babyhood.

The poor divers of Japan are women. Along the coast of the bay of Ago and the bay of Kowasho the thirteen and fourteen-year-old girls after they have finished their primary school work go to sea and learn to dive. They are in the water and learn to swim almost from babyhood and spend most of their time in the water except in the coldest season, from the end of December to the beginning of February. Even during the most inclement seasons they sometimes dive for pearls.

They wear a special dress, white undergarment and the hair twisted up into a hard knot. The eyes are protected by glasses to prevent the entrance of water. Tubes are suspended from the waist. A boat in command of a man is assigned to every five or ten women divers to carry them to and from the diving grounds. When the divers arrive on the grounds they leap into the water at once and begin to gather oysters at the bottom. The oysters are dropped into tubes suspended from their waists. When these vessels are filled the divers are raised to the surface and jump into the boats. They dive to a depth of from five to thirty fathoms without any special apparatus and retain their breath from one to three minutes. Their ages vary from thirteen to forty years, and between twenty-five and thirty-five they are at their prime. —Oriental Review.

DO NOT BE A LEANER.

Learn to Be Self Reliant and Strong and Original.
Power is the goal of every worthy student, and only weakness comes from imitation or dependence on others, says Orson Sweet Marden in Success Magazine. Power is self-developed, self-generated. We cannot increase the strength of our muscles by sitting in a gymnasium and letting another exercise for us. Nothing else so destroys the power to stand alone as the habit of leaning upon others. If you lean you will never be strong or original. Stand alone or bury your ambition to be somebody in the world.

The man who tries to give his children a share in the world so that they will not have to hard a time as he had is unknowingly bringing disaster upon them. What he calls giving them a start will probably give them a setback in the world. Young people need all the motive power they can get. They are naturally learners, imitators, copyers, and it is easy for them to develop into echoes or imitations. They will not walk alone while you furnish crutches; they will lean upon you just as long as you will let them. One of the greatest delusions that a human being could ever have is that he is permanently benefited by continued assistance from others.

Hardheaded His Humor.
The staff humorist approached the editor with a lugubrious face and his resignation.

"Why, you are doing all right," said the editor. "What's the trouble?" "Well, you see, sir," replied the staff humorist, "it's this way. I got married a few weeks ago, and now if I make a joke about wives my wife thinks I mean her, and if I mention a mother-in-law her mother comes around and raises the roof. Then, too, one of my wife's brothers is a plumber, another an ice man, and the third is a coal dealer. More than that, she has a half brother who is a book agent, and they are all big, husky fellows with ugly tempers. If you don't mind I'd like to retire from the humorous department and take a position as obituary editor."—Boston Transcript.

EASILY BREAKS A SEVERE COLD.

In Just a Few Hours All Misery From a Bad Cold or the Grippe Will Be Overcome.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken, will end the Grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach, limbs or any part of the body. It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end the Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects, as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

Napoleon at Waterloo.
The question, "Was Napoleon himself at the battle of Waterloo?" does not admit of a flat answer. He was not himself physically. The dread disease of which six years later he died was at work upon him, and the physical decay, while it in no way affected his mind, told heavily upon his will. It was, for instance, observed that during his last campaign he was often found to be in a sleepy mood, that he talked instead of acting, that he frequently asked for the opinions of others, a thing that he had rarely been known to do before, and that he seemed quite often to waver in his resolution, whereas he had always been noted for the rapidity of his decisions. Mentally it was the same old Napoleon, but the great intellect was sorely handicapped by the stomach trouble that was so soon to kill him.—New York American.

Raisin Bread.
Incorporated with bread raisins constitute a valuable and help out the meat problem. It is stated that the raisin contains nearly 5 per cent protein and over 55 per cent carbohydrates and therefore is a very important energizing food. For invalids and children raisin bread is invaluable, says Life and Health. The simplicity of the loaf makes it an ideal substitute for the hard, butter, sugar, egg, cream and citron laden cake. It is therefore an important addition to the domestic menu, and the woman who has her children's health at heart will see that at each baking the raisins are used. Good Cooks.
"If all sick people had good cooks," says the London hospital, "there might be a greater proportion of recoveries." The value of the patient foods which are advertised so much lies largely, it says, in the ease with which they are prepared for the table.

Card of Thanks.
Owing to circumstances we cannot personally thank each of our kind friends and neighbors for their words and deeds of love since the death of our dear little boy. God alone knows how much we appreciate them. They were such a comfort to us. Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Lepley, Perryopolis, Pa.

Tonsiline Prevents Quinsy
The Glands which cause Quinsy reach the deeper seated tissues by absorption through the tonsils, causing the horribly painful inflammation which results in suppuration. Quinsy is simply a development of Sore Throat to which some people are peculiarly subject. With them, a tedious or neglected Sore Throat terminates in Quinsy. With them, a quickly cured Sore Throat means Quinsy avoided and nothing else cures Sore Throat as quickly and surely as TONSILINE.

Many such letters as below prove TONSILINE'S value in preventing Quinsy. Gentlemen:—I have been subject to Quinsy for the last fifteen years and have simply had to suffer from ten days to two weeks with it every attack, never having been able to find a preventive, until I commenced using TONSILINE. Up until a year ago I had had ten attacks of Quinsy, but have been able to avoid it twice since that time by the use of a 25 cent bottle of your remedy. Hoping that others similarly troubled will profit by my experience and thanking you for what your TONSILINE has done for me, I remain, Yours very truly, E. T. KEENAN, Chief Clerk Auditor's Office, C. & A. Co., Cleveland, Ohio. Sufferers from Quinsy should always have TONSILINE ready for instant use on first sign of Sore Throat. 25c. and 50c. Trichromatic Vision.
In a recent discussion before the British Royal Society of the phenomenon of "trichromatic vision" the case of a scientist known for his researches in electrical science was described. "Vision" looking at the bright spectrum of sunlight this scientist sees only three colors—red, green and violet. For him there is no definite color in the part of the spectrum that appears to persons with normal vision pure blue. He can distinguish nothing of the nature of pure yellow in the spectrum. Hedditch green would describe the orange and yellow parts as he sees them. In testing with colored yarns the wool changed color to him when contrasted, although a normal sighted person saw no difference. These facts show how different colors may possibly appear to those about us.

TWO BLOODHOUNDS FOR SCOTSDALE.

They Trained Burglars Who Entered Electric Superintendents Home.

BUT THE DOGS LOST THE TRAIL

Bold Burglars Entered J. S. Johnston's Home and Stole Money and Two Banks Belonging to the Children—Winter's Advent Was Violent.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, Nov. 12.—Another bloodhound chase followed the robbing of a house and two banks at Scottdale on Friday night. The chase was a wild one on Saturday evening, and the weather rather favorable to such a thing but nevertheless the criminals made a clean getaway. Two house entered that of J. S. Johnston, Superintendent of the West Penn Electric Company on Everson avenue, and about 35 and two banks belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Johnston's children were taken. One of the banks had been receiving deposits for about two years, never having been emptied during that period, and it is presumed that it held quite a large surplus. The other bank was also well filled. The family retired about 10 o'clock and the thing was not discovered until Saturday morning when the family found that the kitchen window open and the kitchen door unlocked. The burglar or burglars had gotten in by the window, searched the downstairs and then made their way out through the convenient kitchen door.

Word was sent to Fairmont, W. Va., for the bloodhound that was used during the Rock fires and a week previously on the Glendendale chicken stealing. The dogs arrived in Scottdale in the evening. During the night some pieces of sheet iron were got some pieces of sheet iron from the house. Mr. Ellis, his neighbor, and covered up the tracks of the thieves. The dogs arriving on the scene, the sheet iron was raised and the dogs took the trail, leading out to J. L. Rittenhouse's farm, on the North Side, where the dogs stopped at a chicken house, with their paws up against the chicken house. The farmers could not say definitely whether or not any chickens had been stolen the night before, but the dogs paid no attention to the other chicken house nor to any other of a trail that took them up to Pine Tree, and then circled up to Hawk eye, near the market of Ed. W. The well known market gardener. At that point they seemed to lose the trail utterly and no efforts could get them to pick it up again.

Winter Arrives. Synchronized with the flight of great flocks of wild geese across this locality, a phenomenon pointed out by veterans in weather wisdom as a warning of sudden and severe change in the climatic conditions, winter fell upon this section, with a violent and prolonged stream of wind, blowing the snow in great gusts shortly after noon on Sunday. The wind and snow made a blizzard, biting and cutting and blinding to those who were out in it. The mercury fell from the region of 70 down to the 20 mark last evening and this morning it is hovering around 10. The snow and rain from upon path and pavement, until walking became a perilous performance. The sudden advent of winter weather was more marked than it has been for years, and its violence, caused dismay upon those who had built upon the hope of warmth from the past several days. Plants were frozen, along with the apples that had not been picked and altogether the weather became an agent of some destruction. It does not hold much promise for the future months, although some claim that the winter will be mild. At any rate it will start with plenty of water, since here have been frequent and generous rains and the recent ones brought the streams up to a marked degree yesterday.

Official Announcer. Rev. H. S. Piper, the new minister at the First Methodist Episcopal church, has done away with a custom that has been annoying ministers for years in many churches, and has been the means of breaking into the line of their morning sermons. At the Methodist Episcopal church yesterday the minister read no announcements from the pulpit, instead Theodore Hockley, a member of the official board, reading the announcements at the request of the minister. Mr. Hockley is familiar with names and conditions and during the preliminary exercises can get the announcements well in hand. Rev. Mr. Piper had large congregations yesterday in spite of the weather, and preached two powerful and appealing gospel sermons.

Celebrate at Youngwood. There was a big consumption of red fire at Youngwood Saturday night when a celebration was held in honor of the great runs made by McMurra and Cramer, both residents of Youngwood, elected at the recent election.

Price of Sugar Declines. A ray of sunshine flitted over the food problem yesterday when a further reduction was announced in whole-sale prices on sugar making a total decline of 1 1/2 cents a pound from the high values of three weeks ago.

Meddzia Paid Up and Will Kill Dog

Mike Meddzia of Dutch Bottom was arraigned before Justice of the Peace W. P. Clark Saturday evening on the charge of harboring a vicious dog. Mary Girard, of the same neighborhood was the protector. It was alleged that on Saturday the dog bit Miss Girard's brother on the cheek.

After Constable B. Rottler had Meddzia to the Squire's office he agreed to pay the costs, the doctor bill and kill the canine. When this had been done the information was withdrawn.

SPENT HER MONEY WELL.

On beautiful Sheridan avenue, in Detroit, lives Miss Marie Richter in perfect health, although a year ago she was almost a wreck. Writing of her condition at that time she says: "Last winter I was completely run-down and felt lugged out all the time, was nervous and had indigestion. "One of my friends advised me to take Vinol and it has done me great good. The third, worn-out feeling is all gone and I am strong, vigorous and well. The stomach trouble soon disappeared and now I eat heartily and have perfect digestion. I wish every tired, weak, nervous woman could have Vinol, for I never spent any money in my life that did me so much good as that I spent for Vinol. Thousands of women and men who were formerly weak and sickly owe their present rugged health to the wonderful strength creating effects of Vinol. If you are pale, weak, nervous and upset you owe it to yourself and your family to try Vinol. It will build you up and make you strong. If it does not we give back your money. Graham & Co., Drugists, Connelville, Pa. Vinol is sold in West Connelville by Fred H. Harshening, Druggist.

A TIP ON CHECKS.

Advice by a Woman Who Always Fills Out the Stub First. The west side woman was paying with a check for some articles she had bought at a department store, and she was carefully filling in the stub of her check book first. "Oh, don't stop for that," urged her shopping companion, who was in a hurry. "You can do that when you get home."

Unmoved, the west side woman finished the stub, with special care, then wrote the check, gave it to the salesman and said to her impatient friend, "Before I was married I took care of some of my father's accounts. The first time he ever asked me to fill out a set of blank checks for him so he could sign them he told me: 'One rule you must always observe when you fill out a check book is to fill out the stub first. Make a vow to yourself, like unto the vow of Jeppithah, that you will never write a check until the stub is filled. If for any reason you should fall later to write the check it would be a simple matter to cancel the stub, but if you write a check and leave the stub blank you open the door to a hundred chances of mistake. No one's memory can be trusted on that subject. Never try to trust yours. Let the law of 'the stub first' be to you as the law of the Medes and the Persians.' I have always found it perfectly easy to follow that rule, and that is one reason I have a bank account today. My husband is never afraid I will make him any trouble with it."—New York Press.

A Safe Proceeding. Lord Lyons, English minister at Washington during the war between the states and afterward ambassador to France, was a diplomatist to the core. He was exceedingly tactful in action and had the rare art of keeping his own counsel. When Sir Edward Blount called upon him one day at the embassy in Paris he found that a well known journalist had preceded him. The visitor was laying down the law in a loud tone, and when, after his departure, Sir Edward was received he took the liberty of saying: "May I be allowed to ask if it is quite wise to discuss state secrets in such a loud tone? I heard every word that was said, my lord, as I sat in the ante-room."

"Ah!" said Lord Lyons. "But even then you could not hear what I said, for I said nothing."

FAMOUS AMERICAN INDIANS

ALBERT PATSON TERNUM

RED JACKET.

A tall stately young Seneca—Sagoyewatha by name—was the fastest runner among the Indian scouts employed by the British in the revolutionary war. He was tireless and covered long stretches of rough forest country with marvellous speed. A British officer toward the end of the revolution gave Sagoyewatha a castoff uniform jacket, brilliant scarlet and faced with gold braid. The gift was a prize for running.

Sagoyewatha's barbaric soul rejoiced at so gaudy a garment. He wore it day and night until it was in shreds. And thereby he won for himself the nickname by which he is best known to history—"Red Jacket."

Red Jacket was a strange man. Even his own people did not know whether to despise or honor him. In battle he was a coward. In council he was a genius. He was at once a patriot and a politician; a reformer and a crook; a friend to the white men and their bitter foe. His eloquence could sway a whole Indian "nation."

He could plan inspired campaigns of war or diplomacy. Yet he shrunk from fighting and often failed to live up to his own teachings. He sought to turn the Indians from drunkenness, etc. Yet he died an intemperate drunkard.

The Man of Many Natures. Red Jacket was born near Geneva, N. Y., in 1751, and succeeded the great Brant as chief of the Wolf tribe of the Seneca "nation." Brant displaced him for his cowardice, and in contempt nicknamed him "The Cow Killer." Yet within a few years Brant failed to live up to his own teachings. He sought to turn the Indians from drunkenness, etc. Yet he died an intemperate drunkard.

In 1781 a conference was held at Fort Stanwix to discuss a treaty between the Six Nations and the United States. Red Jacket argued fiercely against such a treaty, and used all his wonderful eloquence to the effect. Yet, when he failed, and the treaty was ratified, he promptly threw his influence upon the other side and rendered the country good service among his own people that in 1793 the president conferred upon him a huge pension. This medal represented George Washington and Red Jacket smoking the pipe of peace together. The glitter of the silver and the picture of himself on terms of equality with Washington no flattered the Indian's vanity and love of display that he henceforth wore the medal upon the day of his death. It was his dearest treasure.

Red Jacket gave far more than "value received" for the Washington medal. For, when Tecumseh strove to rouse the various Indian tribes against the white men it was he who learned of the plot and notified the government. His tidings did much to help Uncle Sam check this wholesale conspiracy. Soon afterward, at the beginning of the war of 1812 with England, he and the Senecas cast in their lot with the United States. In council and in secret service rather than in fighting Red Jacket was of tremendous assistance to the government throughout that conflict, though his admirers claim that in the battle near Fort George, on the Niagara boundary line, in 1813, he did valiant work.

In spite of all these proofs of devotion to the government he hated all white men. Had he been able he would have rid the land of them. He could not be induced to embrace any of the habits of civilization. He refused to become a Christian but was the sworn enemy of the missionaries who were sent to his people.

A Fight Against Progress. To the last he held to the old religion, dress, language and ways of his savage ancestors, and strove to prevent his followers from adopting white men's customs. The only change he himself made from the primitive Indian life was in learning to drink whisky.

Red Jacket was as wise as he was cowardly. He foresaw that soon or late the once powerful Indians would be crushed under the advance of Progress and would be utterly driven from the hunting grounds of their fathers. With all his cunning and ability he fought to postpone that evil day as long as possible. He tried to prevent his people from imitating the white men and thus sapping their own independence. He sought to train the young Indians to resist weakening influences of civilization. In 1829 Red Jacket came to New York, where a noted artist painted his portrait. Thence he journeyed to Washington in behalf of his people's rights. By that time he had become a hopeless drunkard and a little later his brain gave way. He was deposited by his own tribesmen from his high office of Sachem. A mere shattered wreck of his former self, he died in Seneca Village, N. Y., on January 30, 1830.

Trespasser Arrested. Caught in the net of boarding a moving passenger train at Main street, Uniontown, Saturday, Charles Shultz was arrested by Special P. R. Officer John Detemple and arraigned before Justice Daniel M. Blier on a charge of trespassing. The young man pleaded for money and was released on the payment of costs.

Probe of Telegraph Company. HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—The State Railroad Commissioner will hold a hearing at Jonestown tomorrow, when cases brought against the Central District Telegraph and Printing Company in Westmoreland county will be considered. Wednesday the commission will meet here.

John Dorman, the negro who is alleged to have attacked Ethel Morgan, a 9 year old white girl of Newmarket passed through Rockwood this morning enroute to the county jail, where he will await trial.

MEYERSDALE.

MEYERSDALE, Nov. 12.—The remains of John Ryan, who died suddenly Friday evening of heart failure, were interred in the Catholic cemetery at noon today. Services, which were largely attended, were held in St. Philip and James Catholic church at 10 o'clock, the Rev. J. J. Brady officiating.

Rev. M. J. Brougher, pastor of the Church of the Brethren at Greensburg, passed through here yesterday enroute for Salisbury, where he filled appointments today.

Among the out of town people who attended the funeral of John Ryan were noticed Wm. P. Connelley and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Connelley of Pittsburgh and Wm. T. Noland and Denala Lowrey of Connelville.

Miss Frances E. Livingston who is teaching in the public schools of Grantsville Md. and who spent the week-end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Livingston, of Meyers avenue returned to resume her duties this afternoon.

Considering the inclemency of the weather a fair-sized audience gathered this afternoon in the Danvers Theatre to hear the address of A. W. Lockwood of Pittsburgh secretary of the Men and Religion Movement in which the speaker explained the aims and objects of the movement. The music for the occasion was furnished by the Meyersdale orchestra. Wm. P. Young, director and by the men's choir.

The portable tabernacle in which a series of evangelistic meetings will be held commencing Wednesday, the 22nd inst., is here and the work of erecting it will be begun tomorrow. The building will be located on the baseball grounds in Silver's Park, will be heated by steam lighted by electricity and will seat 5,000 people.

CHAPTER XVI.

The Humble Petition.
Billy, sitting in an old buggy in front of the livery stable, had just engaged in a long and interesting conversation with Sam Lamb. He was getting out of the vehicle when the sharp wire around the broken wheel caught in the back of his trousers and tore a great hole. He felt a tingling pain and looked over his shoulder to investigate. Not being satisfied with the result, he turned his back to the negro and anxiously inquired, "Is my breeches tore, Sam?"

"Day an' dat," was the reply, "day am busted f'm Dan ter floersheba."

"What I goin' to do 'bout it?" asked the little boy. "Aunt Minerva she will be mad. These here's brand spankin' new trousers what I ain't never wore tell today. Ain't you got a needle an' thread so's you can fix 'em, Sam?"

"Nary er needle," said Sam Lamb. "Is my union suit tore, too?" asked Billy again turning his back for inspection.

His friend made a close examination.

"Yo' union is injured plum scenerious," was his discouraging decision, "and hit 'pears ter me dat yo' hido done suffer, too; you's got er terrible scratch."

The child sighed. The injury to the flesh was of small importance—he reckon you likes him better n me any how, don't you?"

"I love you dearly," she replied. The child stood in front of her and looked at her squarely in the eye. His little form was drawn to its full, proud height, his soft, fair cheeks were flushed, his big, beautiful grey eyes looked somber and sad.

"Is you in love with dat red-headed Maurice Richmond, an' Jew a-foolin' o' me?" he asked with dignity.

A bright flush dyed crimson the young lady's pretty face.

She put her arm around the child's, graceful figure and drew the little boy to the sofa beside her.

"Now, honey, you mustn't be silly," she said, gently, "you are my own, dear little sweetheart."

"An' I reckon he's yo' own, dear," big sweetheart said the jealous Billy. "Well, all I got to say is this here: if he's a goin' to come to see you ev' day then I ain't never comin' no mo'."

He's been a-carryin' on his foolishness 'bout 's long as I can stand it. You got to choose 'tween us right this minute he comes down here mos' ev' day, he's tuck you drivin' more n fifty hundred times, an' he's give you all the candy you can stuff."

He is not the only one who comes to see me," she said smiling down at him. "Jimmy comes often and Len Hummer and Will Rold. Don't you want them to come?"

"Don't nobody pay no tention to Jimmy," he replied contemptuously. "he ain't nothin' but a baby, an' them other mens can come if you wants 'em to, but, said Billy, with a lover's unerring intuition, "I ain't a goin' to stand for that long-legged, scort-top Maurice Richmond a-trottin' his great big cackles down here ev' minute. I wish Aunt Minerva'd let me put on long pants tomorrow so's we could get married."

He caught sight of a new ring sparkling on her finger.

Who give you that ring? he asked sharply.

"A little bird brought it to me," she said, trying to speak gayly and blushing again.

A big red-headed peckerwood," said Billy savagely.

"Maurice loves you, too,"—she hoped to convince him—"he says you are the brightest kid in town."

"Kid," was the scornful echo, "because he's so big and tall, he's got to call me a kid. Well, he'd jes' a-waitin' h'fself lovin' me; I don't like him an' I ain't a-goin' to never like him, an' soon as I put on long pants he's got to get 'bout the worse' lickin' he ever did see."

"Say, does you like him like you does me?" he asked presently, looking up at her with serious, unsmiling face.

She hid her embarrassment in a laugh.

"Don't be foolish, Billy," she replied. "I'll bet he's lovin' you more'n fifty hundred times."

could hide that from his aunt—but he rent in his trousers was a serious matter.

"I wish I could get 'em mended 'fore I goes home," he said wistfully.

"I tell you what, do," suggested Sam, "I 'low Miss Cecilia'll help. Jest go by her house an' she'll darn 'em up fer yeh."

Billy hesitated.

"Well, you see, Sam, me an' Miss Cecilia's engaged an' we's fixin' to marry jes' 's soon as I put on long pants, an' I 'shant' to ask her. An' I don't believe young 'mons patches the breeches of young mens what they's goin' to marry nohow. Do you?"

Aunt Minerva ain't never patched no breeches for the major, and them, with a modest blush, "an' unless is tore, too, an' I ain't got nothin' else to hide my skin."

Again he turned his back to his friend and, his clouded little face looking over his shoulder, he asked: "Do my pants show, Sam?"

"Sho an' visible ter the naked eye," and Sam Lamb laughed loudly at his own wit.

"I don't believe God pays me much attention nohow," said the little boy dolefully, "ev' day I gets put to bed 'cause sumpin' all time a-shappin'. If he'd had a eye on me like he oughter they wouldn't a been no snaggin'. Aunt Minerva's goin' to be mad 'thoo an' 'thoo."

"May be my ol' 'oman can fix 'em, so's dey won't be so terrible bad," suggested the negro, "tint' fer, so you jes' run down ter my cabin an' tell Sukey I say de dem breeches."

The child needed no second bidding—he fairly flew. Sam's wife was cooking, but she cheerfully stopped her work to help the little boy. She sewed up the union suit and put a bright blue patch on his brown linen breeches.

Billy felt a little more cheerful, though he still dreaded confessing to his aunt, and he was loitered along the way till it was nearly dark. Supper was ready when he got home and he walked into the dining room with his customary ease and grace. He was so quiet during the meal and ate so little that his aunt asked him if he was sick. He was planning in his mind how to break the news of the day's disaster to her.

"You are improving, William," she remarked presently, "you haven't got into any mischief today. You have been a mighty good little boy now for two days."

Billy flushed at the compliment and shifted uneasily in his seat. "But

"On my what?" she asked, looking at him severely over her paper.

"I mean if you're me, he hastily explained. "Don't you think blue patches is the mos' nat'ral lookin'?"

"What are you drivin' at, William?" she asked, but without waiting for his answer she went on with her reading.

The child was silent for a long time, his little mind busy, then he began:

"Aunt Minerva—"

She peered at him over her glasses a second then dropped her eyes to the paper where an interesting article on Foreign Missions held her attention.

"Aunt Minerva, I snagged—Aunt Minerva, I snagged my—my skin to-day."

"Let me see the piece," she said, absently, her eyes glued to a paragraph describing a cannibal feast.

"It's a-settin' on it right now," he replied.

Another long silence ensued. Billy resolved to settle the matter. "I's gettin' sleepy," he yawned. "Aunt Minerva, I want to say my prayers and go to bed."

She laid her paper down and he dropped to his knees by her side. He usually sprawled all over her lap during his lengthy devotions, but tonight he clasped his little hands and rested back like a rabbit on its haunches.

After he had rapidly repeated the Lord's Prayer, which he had recently learned and had invoked blessings on all his new friends and neighbors—be forgotten old ones, he concluded with:

"An', O Lord, you done kep' me f'm meddlin' with Aunt Minerva's nose any mo', an' you done kep' me f'm gittin' any no' Easter eggs an' playin' any mo' injun, an' you done kep' me f'm lettin' Mr. Algernon Jones come ag'in, an' now, O Lord, please don't lemme worry the vory 'stence outer Aunt Minerva any mo' 'n you can help like she said I done this mornin', an' please, if they will be done, don't lemme tear the next new breeches tear the next new breeches what she'll gimme like I done ruin't these here what I got on."

CHAPTER XVII.

A Green-Eyed Billy.
"Have some candy," said Miss Cecilia, offering a big box of bonbons to Billy, who was visiting her.

"Where'd you git 'em?" he asked, as he helped himself generously.

"Maurice sent them to me this mornin'."

Billy put all his candy back into the box.

"I don't believe I want none of candy," he said, scowling darkly. "I

Theatrical News.

Darlings of Paris Burlesque Tonight.
Three laughs a minute throughout the performance is what is promised amusement seekers at the Soloson theatre tonight when the merry burlesque, "The Darlings of Paris," will be presented by a company headed by such favorite players as Gladys Sours, Watson and Randy, Pincoffs (Kitt) John and Jessie Powers, Bessie Sisters Sam Taylor, McCabe and Vogel, Stewart and Desmond, Lloyd Pedrick Queen of Light, and the bandoneon chorists in the show business.

Burlesque of big proportions is a sign of the times and these ap-pearances to be a fierce struggle for supremacy, going on all the while few managers have given much thought towards the necessity of a plot, or at least some sort of comprehensive story as a background for the fun and music features that come in for a great share of the favor accorded. It is therefore noteworthy of record an instance like "The Darlings of Paris" which has earned the light of way as much for its solidity of plot as is due to the liberality that is said to characterize its other novel features.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin"
The Soloson theatre tomorrow at ten o'clock and night will have what will prove a big blinder for public patronage this week and its attraction is to be Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe's great story, "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

The Washburn Company, known for years to the public as Stetson's Uncle

Eugene Walter, coming forth with a great play in "The Wolf" which enjoyed a long run at the Lyric theatre in New York clearly proved that the great success of "Paid in Full" was no accident. "The Wolf" will be seen at the Soloson Friday, Nov. 17.

May Find Fortune Swindler Secreted

United Press Telegram
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The $422,000 hidden by David Rothchild, the get-rich-quick man, before he began searching a term in Sing Sing, may be found in an investigation started today here.

Rothchild died in prison according to a Mrs. Batten, to whom Rothchild was married, the man divulged the secret on his death bed.

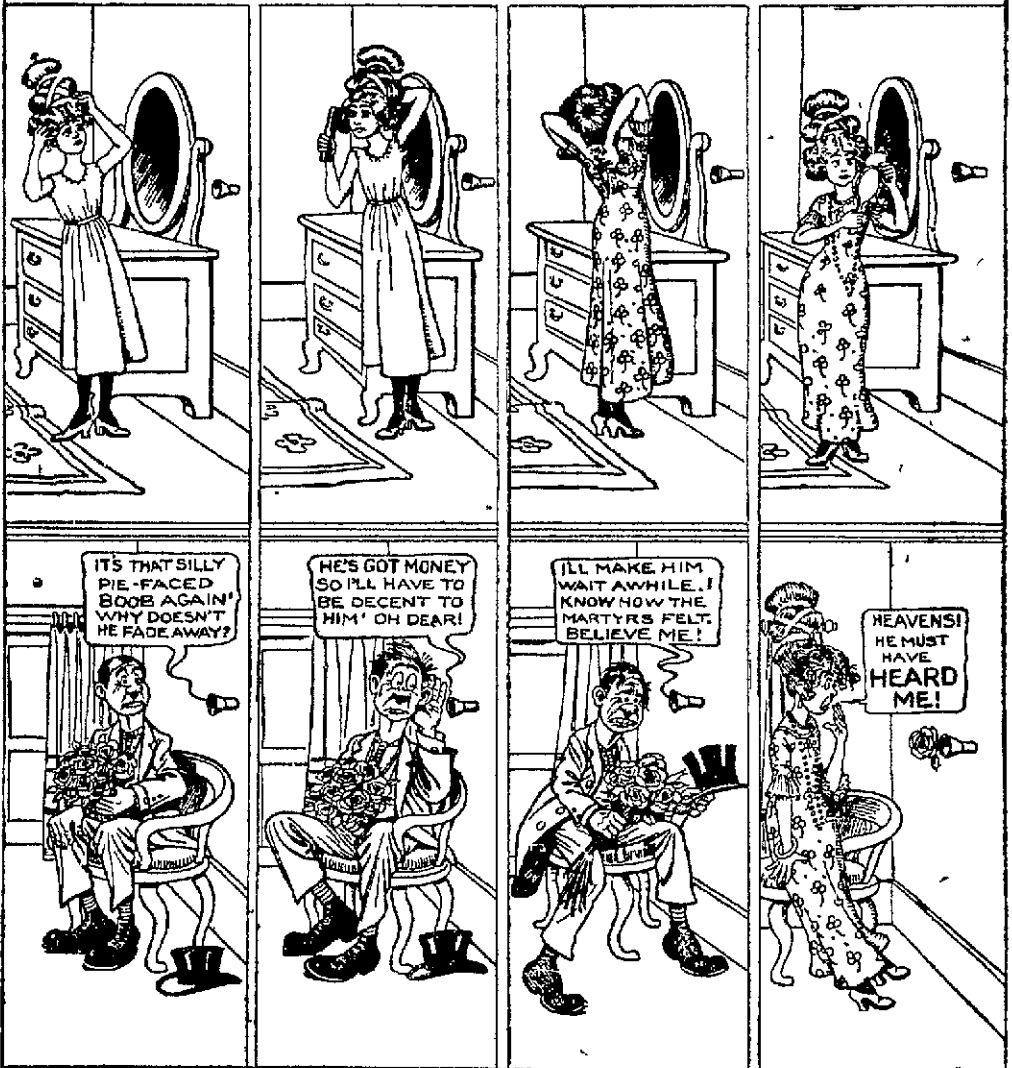

The woman married Rothchild two years ago and lived with him in St. Louis. She learned the secret two months ago but said a mental haze prevented her from disclosing it until this time. The first story was that $37,000 was in the safety deposit vaults of the Corn Exchange bank of

THAT OLD-FASHIONED SPEAKING-TUBE!

JOHNSTOWN BEAT HIGH SCHOOL BOYS.

The Score was 30 to 0 in Flood City on Saturday.

FIRST HALF ENDED 9 TO 3

Johnstown Coach Is Ordered Behind
the Side Lines and One Player Disqualified for Dirty Playing—Same Great Work.

High School was defeated 30 to 0 at Johnstown on Saturday in a one-sided contest. The trouble was that Johnstown runners could go through a broken field without interference on the part of the boys from this town. After the home school's men tore through the field on the kickoff, Connelville's twice held safe in the shadow of the goal posts, once on the five yard line and once on the two yard line. Johnstown could not get an inch farther. The second time, however, Port attempted to punt from behind the posts. The ball struck the cross bar, bounded back and in the middle a Johnstown man got it for a touchdown. It was the easiest kind of a strike.

That was Johnstown's lone score in the first quarter. In the second quarter a field goal was added. In the second half a procession developed. One Johnstown player was put out of the game for rough tactics. He pushed his foot in Stafford's face and the umpire caught him at it. Coach Rodgers of Johnstown was put off the field and sent behind the side-lines. He didn't know any more about the rules than to come on the field to argue with the officials. Not being a player, he was advised to beat it—and he did.

For the first time this season the Connelville ends were vulnerable and most of the gains were made on them. Miller, substitute, was the most effective end who played.

Moore's work at tackle was the sensation of the first half. He was down field after every punt and time after time nailed the Johnstown man before he could take a step. The Johnstown line could not keep Moore back and during the exchange of punts in the first half he was in every play. In the second half he was taken out, in order that he might not overdo himself. Coach Smith is taking no chances with the boys, the Uniontown game being less than two weeks distant. Joseph Buttermore went in for Moore, it being his first game. His first play was to nail Kollar, the Johnstown star, who received the kickoff and nudged him hard. For a green man he played the remainder of the half in clever style.

Johnstown's backfield had great interference and the Connelville backs were going into the bunch a little too quickly. This frequently resulted in both ends and backs would be in the line of interference and left the runner a clear field until Port brought him down.

Considering the difference in weight, the Connelville boys played a good game, although not as good as last year. The lineup:

A YEAR BOOK

Weiss, 1804 Whitman street, has been issued by the Alumni Association of St. Xavier Academy and college. The alumni will hold several afternoon social functions this year. Mrs. Edward A. Weiss is the president; Mrs. E. J. Fagan, corresponding secretary; Miss Josephine Hoy, assistant secretary; Miss Marie P. Moorehead, treasurer; Mrs. A. A. Fraunhoffer, registrar; Mrs. Farrell, auditor.

Besides the vice presidents and the different members of the committees the assistants will include a boy of the alumni and tea will be poured by Mrs. J. Friday, Mrs. R. Flannery and Mrs. A. J. Friday.

A Respected Citizen.

A MAN who puts into practice a system of saving money is on the right track to become a respected citizen. There is more in the ownership of property and the possession of money than the satisfaction of having them. They are the indications of careful, prudent living and diligence in business or whatever a person's occupation may be. This bank has assisted many industrious, prudent people in accumulating a substantial competence. The Citizens National Bank of Connelville.

SICK HEADACHE, DIZZINESS, TORPID LIVER, CONSTIPATION—CASCARETS.

Sick headaches! Always trace them to lazy liver, delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or a sick stomach. Poisonous matter, instead of being thrown out, is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, awful throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the poison move on and out and purifying the blood. The effect is almost instantaneous. Ladies whose sensitive organisms are especially prone to sick headaches, need not suffer, for they can be quickly cured by Cascarets. One taken tonight will straighten you out by morning—sick, bloated, box means a clear head and perfect health for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle, cleansing, too. Children gladly take Cascarets because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

COKERS OPEN THE SEASON TONIGHT.

Charleroi is the Attraction
for First League Game
in New Hall.

IT WILL BE CALLED AT 8:45

Revised Schedule Does Not Improve Connellville's Dates and Uniontown and South Side Seem to Have Been Favored Teams.

The Central league basketball season will open here tonight with Charleroi as the attraction. The game will be called at 8:45. The advance sale of seats indicates that the capacity of the new hall will be taxed to its limit. Captain Jack Adams has a team made up almost entirely of faces that are familiar here and Adams himself is as good a drawing card as can be found.

The Connelville team is in much better shape than when the season opened last year and Captain Dark figures he will get away with the opening game.

Pittsburg papers yesterday announced the "purchase" of the Kingston team of the Hudson River league by South Side. This means that South Side will have an entirely new lineup, including Pommato, Frankel, Hensholl and other stars. Kinkadee has been given to Johnstown in exchange for Steele, Noll and McLaughlin.

Just how the Central league hopes to prosper by encouraging contract jumping is not apparent to fans in general, but it seems to be a popular pastime with club owners.

The revised schedule does not give Connelville any the best of it. South Side and Uniontown seem to have the best of it.

The Johnstown Democrat man says, referring to the suggestion that the Central league needs a new President: "Now had the Courier man just said the league ought to have a whole new Board of Directors he would have hit it a little nearer the right spot."

They will cling to life. Here's the McKeesport News sports artist telling how Eddie Ferat got gray with Charleroi and lost out on a holdup for $250 per month. Modest Eddie. Pity the league couldn't have fired Ferat at the end of the season and kept Moss Bowers in the circuit.

With South Side having jurisdiction over Washington and Uniontown over Charleroi, Johnstown and Connelville should not expect more than an even break—Johnstown Democrat.

Never got that much, anyhow. What is the use of kidding. Anybody who plays "syndicate basketball?"

Johnstown thinks Fogarty, barring accident, will be right at the front at the finish. Same bunch is heard concerning Mr. Sears, Mon. Hough, Herr Dark, Col. Adams and the gent who will lead the ebony complexioned equine steed from Washington, Pa. The original dark horse's name in this race, however, is Dark.

Bush Berge has just gotten wind of a conspiracy to down the Dutch on the Coker team. He thinks that Kummer and Berge will continue to please the populace, as heretofore, however, betcher life.

Of course, it is all ancient history now, but there would have been a basketball league this year if it had to be made up of trolley towns in the coke region. Build a hall and then have no basketball? Nix.

After all is said, however, quite a few sporting writers would have been in the McKeesport News man's class

Now they say poor Donahoe feared the wild men of the west. Be that as it may, one Joe Cavanaugh looks very similar to the goods as a center. He may not have that steamboat road Wild Bill Powell, or the gay falsetto of one Bill Keenan, but he has a red snatch that would even make John Alern envious and keeps plugging along all the time. Cavanaugh may not make good but the Coker fans who have seen him in action will have to be shown.

Those Coker players are peculiar in one respect, they seem to grow young with age. A glance at Doherty, Berge and Dark almost leads one to the belief that they have discovered that spring that old DeSoto once, sought. The entire Coker team probably never appeared in better physical condition.

What It Would Mean.
In a secluded nook they sat, surrounded with palms. He had been bounding softly for ten minutes. "But do you understand what it would mean if I were to give you such a beautiful solitaire ring?" he asked softly.

She thought she did, but she wanted to hear him say the blessed words. "What?" she cooed.

"It would mean that I should have to wear old clothes for a year and live on free lunches."

Then they returned to the reception room.—Lippincott's.

PIMPY? WELL DON'T BE!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pimples will vanish after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Nothing ever cleansed the blood, the bowels and the liver like Olive Tablets.

Olive Tablets are the only successful substitute for calomel; there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Olive Tablets do all that calomel does and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

The olive oil in Olive Tablets is itself a natural laxative and has a healing, soothing, strengthening effect on the irritated organs.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Try them: Take one nightly for a week. Then look at yourself in the glass and see how you feel.
